

10 ways your subject librarian can assist you

Subject librarians are connected to each academic program at ASU with the purpose of providing research and instructional support for faculty and students.

faculty

-  offer guidance on copyright and fair use
-  identify relevant library material supporting course assignments including research databases, e-books, open education resources, primary sources, or unique resources from ASU Libraries' special collections
- www provide assistance in developing permanent links to articles and e-books in Blackboard
-  connect you with services for making ASU Libraries video content available in Blackboard
-  recommend options for building and/or reinforcing research skills in assignments

students

-  recommend strategies and resources for promoting academic integrity and effective citation practices
-  provide in-depth research assistance to students
-  create and customize Library Guides to help students find relevant information on their topic
-  provide guidance in use of citation management tools [e.g. RefWorks, Mendeley etc.]
-  develop online tutorials and other learning materials to boost research skills and knowledge